

The book cover features a dramatic, high-contrast image of a large fire. The flames are bright orange and yellow, rising from a dark, silhouetted area at the bottom. The background is black, making the fire stand out. The title 'NASHVILLE BURNING' is written in a bold, yellow, serif font at the top. Below it, the subtitle 'a novel' is in a smaller, white, serif font. At the bottom, the author's name 'GERALD DUFF' is in a white, serif font. The overall mood is intense and somber.

Synopsis book

Nashville Burning is set in three Aprils, those of 1967, 68, and 69, in Music City. In the first, after an event at Vanderbilt University featuring Martin Luther King, Stokely Carmichael, Allen Ginsberg, and Strom Thurmond, riots broke out in North Nashville, and that part of town burst into flames as did self-satisfied notions about civil order and structure in Nashville and the South. The next April, after the assassination of Dr. King in Memphis, Nashville riots took place again, and fire claimed its function. Nashville Burning presents characters caught up in those events and that time events ranging from the thoughtful and sincerely well-meaning to the truly felonious and certifiably insane. The novel is humorous, yet serious. Its fire is literal and emotional, and it is not to be stoked.
