

The background of the cover is a photograph of a greenhouse. In the center is a large, light-colored wooden double door with glass panes. To the left of the door, a shelf holds several potted plants. To the right, a small table holds a watering can and other items. The greenhouse is filled with various plants, including tall, thin, leafless branches and hanging vines. The lighting is bright and natural, coming from the large windows.

Synopsis book

Contemporary home design is all about blurring the lines between indoors and out, finding sophisticated and unexpected ways to bring nature inside and to extend one's home design sensibility into the garden. For years, Terrain has been at the forefront of this movement (they are responsible for popularizing the terrarium craze, for one), and in their first book--timed to the 10-year anniversary of the brand--they offer readers a treasury of interior and outdoor design ideas, projects, and gardening intel. The book will teach readers how to replicate the "Terrain look" at home, with topics ranging from terrariums to arbors, layered bulb planting to holiday wreath-making. Featuring hundreds of full-color photographs and inspirational ideas for every season, Terrain at Home is the ultimate resource for the indoor/outdoor lifestyle.
